Winner—B. f. by Meddler—Flitaway (trained by A. Simons).
Went to post at 2:02. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily; second driving. Shoo Fly was well handled and taken the short route, caught Suburban Queen tiring in the stretch run and was going away at the end. Sidney Sabath came to the extreme outside at the turn into the homestretch and Robbins could not keep him straight when it came to a drive and allowed him to swerve over toward the inside in the last hundred yards. Polite tired when the pinch came. Nicolette and Solver had to go around the leaders at the far turn.

Winner—B. c. by Lord Esterling—Tarpia II. (trained by J. Lowe).
Went to post at 2:30. At post 8 minutes. Start bad. Won handily; second driving. O'Connor rated John Peters along through the first half and never made a move until in the last quarter, came around the leaders at the stretch turn and hustled him along all of the last furlong. Bummer saved ground all the way, caught Little Jack Horner tiring and outgamed him when it came to a drive. The latter showed the most early speed. He is a quick breaker and it was a three-horse race all the way. Dr. Scharff refused to break and was left at the post.

Scratched—36311 If You Dare, 111; 36329 Moroni, 102.

Overweights—Della Ostrand, 1 pound.

Went to post at 3:08. At post 2 minutes. Start fair. Won driving; second handily. Dodie S. and Leenja fought it out all through the last quarter and Helgesen outrode Bridwell when it came to a finish. Leenja had to come around the leaders at the stretch turn, finished stontly and would have won with a good rider up. Nabocklish was used up in chasing Miss Shanley and tired in the stretch run. Miss Shanley ran well to the stretch. Annie Thompson was on the outside all the way and covered more ground than any horse in the race. She finished in behind the others through the last eighth. Maid of Enid was as good as left.

Winner—B. g. by G. W. Johnson—Winnifred (trained by M. Goldblatt).
Went to post at 3:31. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won all out; second easily. Travers raced Clonmell to submission in the first half and had enough left to stall off Federal's challenge at the end. The latter began slowly and O'Connor took matters easy for the first three-eighths, then made up a lot of ground while rounding the far turn and was wearing the winner down at the end. Clonmell was tiring badly at the end. The other two were outclassed.

Scratched—36478 Harry New, 110; 36151 Scotch Plaid, 102.

Winner—Ch. c. by Troubadour—Unadilla (trained by V. Hughes).

Went to post at 4:02. At post 2 minutes. Start poor. Won easily; second driving. Tancred went to the front quickly, showed much the most speed and had plenty in reserve at the end. Brookston and Watkins Overton fought it out all through the last quarter and Hicks outrode McIntyre when it came to a finish. Watkins Overton was in a pocket all down the backstretch. Rankin tired and quit when called on. Ravenspur was bumped into and crowded back at the start and Murphy pulled up.

Scratched—36356 Annie B., 93.

Went to post at 4:31. At post 3 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second the same. Optimo showed the most speed all the way, but had to be hard ridden all of the last quarter to stall off Rasselas. The latter came through next to the inside rail at the turn into the homestretch and was wearing the winner down at the end. Commissioner Forster began slowly and went around his field while rounding the far turn, but tired when called on. Scotch Plaid quit in the last quarter. Blacksmith made a bold bid on the turn out of the backstretch, but weakened in the stretch run, but was easily best of the others. It was a weak ride on Collegian.

Went to post at 2:30. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second easily. Lord Advocate was best handled and that won for him. He had to be hustled to catch Lucky Day and was tiring badly when Hist challenged in the last sixteenth. Creamer rode a strong finish on the latter, but could not quite get up. Doyle was of little help to Lucky Day. The latter is speedy and can win in the same company with a good rider. Reckless, a sharp contender to the final furlong, was short and weakened under a drive. It was a poor ride on Stonewall. Sunny shore broke slowly.

NOTES OF THE TURF.

J. J. Marklein, the well-known owner, stopped off in Chicago Thursday en route to California, where he recently shipped Laura F. M., Brissac and John J. Regan to be raced this winter. Mr. Marklein stated that he left ten yearlings and several older horses at Latonia, where they will be quartered until spring then shipped to Memphis and tried out. Among the youngsters are several fashionably bred ones and, judging from their appearance, may contain another Dr. Walker among them.

X 212, Chicago. It was Autumn Time and not Automaton that was entered in the second Ingleside race Wednesday. All wagers on Automaton are draws.

J. L. A., Chicago. The disqualification of Right and True was not for a cause affecting wagers and bets were and are to be paid as the horses finished.

Inquirer, Chicago. The show odds on W. J. Deboe should have read 6 to 1 instead of 6 to 5.

Jockey L. Jackson was indefinitely suspended by the Ingleside judges Thursday.

 Went to post at 3:30. At post 3 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second the same. Sam Craig began slowly, went all around the field and had plenty left at the end. Annie Grace ran a good race, making up much ground. Lady Teazle was repeatedly interfered with and finished fast. Honeybrook, well handled throughout, weakened badly when hard pressed in the stretch. Aminta was ridden all over the course and Daly did not make a move on him until too late. The route was too far for Prancer.  Winner—Br. g, by Gaion d'Or—Marie Shanklin (trained by G. W. Cook).
 Went to post at 3:40. At post 5 minutes. Start poor. Won easily; second driving. Benckart was the best, worked his way to the front on the turn and was under restraint to the last sixteenth, where he won easily. Wonderly took no chances, shaking him up. Malden ran a good race, showed speed and was the best of the others. Wunderlich held on gamely in the final drive. Cogswell ran a poor race, but was closing up at the end and would have been second in another stride. Redfern rode him hard all the way. Brisk showed speed, but was not up to the route. Flara did not have much chance with the start. Scratched—36440 Moske, 98; 36454 Brunswick, 95; 36436 Flying Virginian, 95.

 Winner—Ch. f, by Tristan—Hazel W. (trained by R. Pryor).
 Went to post at 4:29. At post 4 minutes. Start good. Won easily; second driving. Florham Queen was easily the best. Under restraint to the stretch she easily drew away when called on. Ahola showed a good burst of speed, but seemingly is only a sprinter. Dark Planet made up a tremendous gap and finished strongly. Invincible was messed about all the way and found the route too far. Cincinnatus made a good bid in the stretch; then tired. Daly ran poorly. Hackensack was a contender for six furlongs and was eased up at the end.
 Scratched—36226 Pigeon Post, 123; 36417 Jim Clark, 120; 36472 Malden, 120; 363102 Paul Clifford, 120; (36454) Smart Set, 118; 36471 Buck Lodge, 115; 36428 Scoffer, 95; 36453 John Nevin, 95; 36397 Captivator, 92.

 Winner—B. g, by Apache—Lina (trained by A. Romero).
 Went to post at 2:03. At post 2 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second the same. Castake was lucky, given a vigorous finish, made a close stretch turn and outstayed the other sharp contenders after a hard drive. Maggie Felix forced the pace from a lucky start and stood a long drive gamely. Mike Rice broke flatfooted and closed a big, early gap, but was carried wide on the stretch turn and was probably best and is a greatly improved horse this year. Tizona was outrun early, but closed up fast at the end. Estado failed to stay and is very moderate. Ohio Girl fell out of it hopelessly in the first furlong. Hesper was sore, but is improving and wants mud to show at his best.
 Scratched—36430 King Dellis, 110; 31804 Montana Peerses, 102.
 Castake, show, 1 to 4. Maggie Felix, show, 2 to 5. Mike Rice, show, 2 to 1.

 Winner—Ch. f, by El Rio Rey—Blizzard (trained by J. Byrne).
 Went to post at 2:28. At post 2 minutes. Start fair. Won easily; second the same. Gorgalte secured a lucky start, but was badly messed about and pocketed to the stretch, where she suddenly flashed through next to the rail and won going away fast and was much the best. Quatre, under a vigorous us and lucky ride, ran gamely. Katanga finished with a rush and runs like a stayer. District is a good looker and went well. Edna Rose showed much speed and was a contender when a sixteenth out. Mordenta ran poorly and evidently favors mud. Orsini had no chance at the start. Penzance, away badly and interfered with, lacked speed and quit and favors soft going probably.
 Overweights—Quatre, 3 pounds.

 Winner—B. f, by Tremont—Secret (trained by J. Burrows).
 Went to post at 2:58. At post 3 minutes. Start good. Won driving; second the same. Erema was away well, forced the pace to the stretch turn, where she fell away apparently beaten, but came again with a rush right at the end and won drawing away. Matt Hogan was lucky at the start, had clear sailing and no mishaps, but failed to stay when hard pressed. Dollie Wiethoff ran a speedy and game race and is much improved. Malaspina, badly ridden, made a wide stretch turn and finished strongly and is best in mud. Mocerito was carried wide on the turns and quit in the last furlong.

 Winner—B. c, by Orsini—Moonlit (trained by J. H. Shields).
 Went to post at 3:29. At post 1 minute. Start fair. Won driving; second easily. Orfeo outclassed the field, secured a lucky start, took a long and winning lead early and held on gamely and can beat good ones. The Major was considerably messed about, but finished strongly. Fossil, away badly, ran a brilliant first half and was dangerous in the stretch, where he was interfered with and is very promising. Leader, away badly, had a rough trip, but closed up strongly in the stretch and can do better. The Owl ran creditably. Step Around is evidently best in mud. Hudson, also a mudlark, was short.
 Scratched—36412 Esherin, 107.
 Orfeo, show, 3 to 1. The Major, show, out. Fossil, show, 3 to 1. Leader, show, 1 to 3.

 Winner—Ch. g, by Flambeau—Experiment, by Cyrus (trained by P. E. Smith).
 Went to post at 3:53. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily; second easily. Expedient was unlucky early, went the longest way around to get clear sailing, but finished very strongly and was much the best. Goldone, away badly, worked into the lead by an unexpected burst of speed, ran gamely throughout and is steadily improving. Canejo forced the pace from the start, took a clear and apparently winning lead

ACCUSES MADDEN.

From Washington comes a startling story to the effect that the father or jockey Cochran is about to prefer charges of the gravest nature against John E. Madden, the most prominent and the most successful trainer of race horses in America. Cochran's father, it seems, was asked to keep away from the Morris Park fall meeting by the stewards, and, it is said, that he was requested to absent himself from the Bannings track—in both instances presumably because the stewards deemed it inadvisable for him to have any communication with his son during the racing hours. The stewards might reasonably have done this and still harbor no suspicion of wrongdoing by him. More than once it has been alleged that the father has been indiscreet enough to order the boy to ride his mount contrary to the instructions issued by the trainer or owner of the horse, who alone had the right to issue such orders. More than a year ago John McCafferty declined the services of the boy, then under contract to him, and the reason for this strange action as alleged at the time was the interference of the father. Then it will be remembered that at the Morris Park fall meeting Mr. Madden, as the manager of the Whitney stable, stood Cochran on the ground and put Redfern up on Slipthrift. With Redfern up the horse ran a good race, whereas, in previous races, with Cochran in the saddle, he had been beaten badly in poorer company. The change in the horse's form no less than the reflection on Cochran, the Whitney jockey, in standing him on the ground, was responsible for a lot of gossip. So far as Cochran was concerned, Mr. Madden would say nothing further than that the boy was not strong enough to ride the horse, and that he put Redfern up simply because he believed him to be the better rider. The explanation was reasonable, as well as plausible, and was accepted at the time, but that there was a raging tempest below the service of Mr. Madden's action is made clear by the admissions and the charges now made by Cochran's father. If the Morris Park stewards requested Mr. Cochran to absent himself from the course, they must have had what they believed good and sufficient reason for doing so.

As the story runs, Cochran now claims that his boy was put up on Slipthrift and other Whitney and Madden horses "when they were to be beaten"—which might mean a multiplicity of things. The boy might be put up, for instance, when it would indicate that he did not have a chance of winning, and he might be so put up without the slightest suggestion of trickery or wrongdoing. But Madden comes to a race which he thinks one of his horses can win provided he has the services of a better jockey than Cochran, and he engages the superior boy and wins a race. Nothing wrong about that, surely. Owners and trainers and bettors in calculating the chances of a horse always take the skill of the jockeys into consideration. That is why Redfern has an army of followers while Cochran is practically friendless. Thus far Cochran's story has got no further than the newspaper stage, but he is quoted directly and he evidently is prepared to submit his charges to the stewards of The Jockey Club. It is doubtful, however, if the charges ever will be presented to The Jockey Club. The stewards probably considered the case fully when they acted at Morris Park. If, at that time, they could find no evidence other than that which influenced them to deny the privileges of the course to Cochran it is difficult to see how they could find such evidence at this late day. The charges, in fact, amount to no more than allegations, for proof of which the father must rely on the son, and the stewards undoubtedly would regard it as a foregone conclusion that the boy would support his father. If the elder Cochran hopes to substantiate his allegations against Madden he must produce in corroboration evidence other than that which can be furnished by his son, and this it is not likely he can do. The story is one that will create no end of gossip in turf circles; but when everything has been said and done it probably will be found that its finish, like its beginning, will be gossip. The elder Cochran, chagrined at the loss of his boy's engagement with the Whitney stable and his poor form in the saddle, will cool off by and by and the incident will be closed.

John Madden is a strong, unique figure on the turf. His career in racing has been one unbroken line of successful exploits in the breeding, development, conditioning and placing of thoroughbreds. It would be difficult to tell in what department of the sport he excels. His skill and success in all of them is surpassing great, unequalled in the history of the American turf. Never before Madden's time have we had a man who at one and the same time commanded success as a breeder, a trainer and a manager. In him are combined the qualities which go to make success in each and all of these important departments and which never before have been united in one individual. Nor is his success confined to the breeding, development and training of the thoroughbred. To a singular extent he enjoys the favor and the confidence of the men who control the destinies of racing. Large as his own breeding and racing interests are, he has found time to direct the affairs of the Whitney and other prominent stables. With the patronage, the support and friendship of such men as William C. Whitney and Frank R. Hitchcock, charges such as those preferred by Cochran need to be substantiated before they will be accepted as fact, and of their substantiation there does not seem to be—in fact, is not—so much as the shadow of a chance.—The Evening Sun.

GOSSIP OF THE TURF.

If the present meeting at the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, La., comes up to the expectations of the management, and there is every reason to believe that it will, it is likely that another track will be purchased by the Crescent City Jockey Club, says the New Orleans Picayune. Negotiations have been entered into between the Buffalo Racing Association and President Bush, looking toward the purchase of the Kenilworth Park track at Buffalo, N. Y. The plant at Kenilworth Park is one of the best in the country, and with proper management it looks as if racing there would pay. Last fall, under very adverse conditions, the meeting, all things considered, was a good one, although it was not a success financially. It opened up with a small attendance, but as the meeting progressed the crowds kept increasing. On a couple of days there were fully 7,000 people present. Betting was good, and the game kept growing in favor. All this improvement came under very lax management, too. With President Bush and Secretary Clark at the head of affairs, Kenilworth Park would have a very bright future. It is to be hoped, for the good of racing around Buffalo, that the negotiations now pending will be carried out and that the transfer will be made.

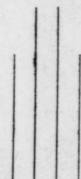

J. Wambgans of Algiers, who recently fell into a small fortune, has decided to become a horse owner and follow the racing game. He intends to purchase several horses and recently bought, at New Orleans, the two-year-old colt Handspinner from "Doc" Streett for $2,500. Handspinner started his racing career in the colors of James R. Keene and was turned over to Streett to race in the west. Streett took him to St. Louis and won several races with him before going to New Orleans. This horse is more than likely to develop into a good class three-year-old and should make a good nucleus from which to build up a good stable. J. Coombs will train him as well as the others which Mr. Wambgans will purchase.

WHOLESOME DISCIPLINE.

For bad behavior, negligence and all the other besetting ills of jockeys there is no remedy known to the pharmacopoeia of the turf that can begin to equal a dose of suspension. It is a cureall in the best sense of the word. If the jockey is inclined to walk in the way that is not straight and narrow it simply eliminates him from the racing plan; if he is fractious he becomes as gentle as a lamb; if he is impudent he becomes meek and respectful. Suspension is indeed an unrivalled remedy. It is as efficacious with the fashionable jockey as with the humblestable boy. About two months ago Bullman and Burns were cutting a wide swath. They were in the employ of August Belmont and W. C. Whitney respectively, and with such powerful patrons they seemed to think that the earth and the fullness thereof was theirs. Just at that time something happened. The stewards of The Jockey Club met and thought that a dose of suspension would be about the proper thing. Instantly Burns and Bullman passed from view, and although it may have seemed strange to them there was none to mourn their passing. Now they are on the penitent bench. They have applied to the Jockey Club, not for a license but for a degree of restoration which will permit them to ride in California. What action the stewards will take is problematical, although if Burns and Bullman were guilty of no offense more serious than that of bad behavior at the post it would seem that they had paid a heavy penalty—the heaviest ever visited by The Jockey Club for a similar offense. Indeed, in the minds of a great many racegoers the punishment outweighed the crime so greatly that they were constrained to believe the jockeys guilty of some offense graver than that of disobeying the starter. It will be remembered, however, that at the time these boys were suspended there was much trouble at the starting post and the stewards announced their intention of remedying it. Evidently they believed that suspension would prove to be the most potent remedy, and in striking they preferred to aim at shining marks. Burns and Bullman had been prominent factors in the starting difficulties, and the stewards, marking them for fair game, brought them down. Now the boys are on the penitent bench and their friends are hopeful that they will be permitted to ride on the coast. It is significant of Burns' innocence of wrongdoing, other than his offense of breaking up starts, that almost immediately after his suspension Mr. Whitney renewed his contract with him—a step which would never have been taken if there had been any question of the boy's honesty.—The Evening Sun.
